

November 2011

Greetings:

As Chair of the NC-213 Awards Committee this year I invite you to submit nominations (individual or team) for the 2012 Andersons Cereals and Oilseeds Award of Excellence. A description of the award is included. Please send nominations to me, Dr. Leland McKinney, Kansas State University, lelandm@ksu.edu and copy Bill Koshar <koshar.3@osu.edu> by Noon, Wednesday, January 4, 2012.

This is an important tradition of NC-213 and it provides an excellent opportunity to honor our colleagues for superior contributions to science and/or education related to quality of cereals and oilseeds. (Past award winners are listed below.)

The Andersons Cereals and Oilseeds Award of Excellence

Description-

The Andersons Cereals and Oilseeds Award of Excellence was created in 1999 to recognize individuals or teams that have made superior contributions to science and/or education related to cereals and oilseeds.

Eligibility-

Nominees for The Andersons Award:

- 1-Must demonstrate a well-documented history of superior contributions to science and/or education related to cereals and oilseeds.
- 2-Can be associated with a university, and it is desirable that the nominee be from private industry or a state or federal agency. A team award is also encouraged. Nominee need not be a member of NC-213.

Nomination Package-

Nomination packages must include the following:

- 1-Not more than three letters of support including at least one letter from private industry.
- 2-Not more than five pages (single-spaced, 12 point font) that describe the nominee's background, contributions, and impacts on the cereal and oilseed industry, research community, or educational programs.
- 3-A complete curriculum vitae/resume.

Review-

A committee will solicit and review nomination packages.

Award Date-

The Andersons Cereals and Oilseeds Award of Excellence will be presented during the annual meeting of Multistate Project NC-213, "Marketing and Delivery of Quality Grains and BioProcess Coproducts"

(NC-213 – The U.S. Quality Grains Research Consortium).
